WEBINAR DESCRIPTION

Donald Warne, MD, MPH, will describe health disparities and inequities related to American Indian cancer control. We will explore the legal basis for federally-funded health services to American Indians and the complexity of health policy at the federal, state and tribal levels that impact cancer control. We will provide a framework for health equity and a path forward to improve outcomes.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Define the terms American Indian/Alaska Native, Native American, and Indigenous.
- Explain the history of American Indian health policy and the legal right to health services.
- Describe at least two tangible steps to take to improve American Indian cancer control and health equity.
